

CS3STHLM 2020 Call For Participation

SUBMISSION AND SUBMISSION DETAILS

PLEASE NOTE: Submitted material

- both for CFP and final material, must be in ENGLISH since CS3STHLM is an international conference.
- should use this form, and supply info in PDF, docx, or raw ASCII format
- Submission must be vendor-neutral, non-advertising material, and it is for submissions to the conference 21-22 October. Logo on powerpoint template, but no bio in presentation material. Bio - "who am I, where do I work, etc" will be displayed separately on large screens on stage.
- There are also speaker slots at CS3sthlm Expo 20 October, for partner presentations with more flexibility for presenters to choose style and content, incl vendor and advertising. Don't use this form, contact partnership@CS3sthlm.se
- Last day of submission midnight 15th of March 2020

Review of submissions will be performed both as non-blind and blind evaluations.

Submission should be sent via email to following adress: "cfp@cs3sthlm.se" and must include details about the following:

1. Type of participation, describe what kind of engagement you are interested in: presentation, training class (half day, one or two day), workshop, demonstration, other ideas
2. Name of the submission
 - Title of your presentation
 - Name and organisations of the authors
 - Name of the suggested Presenter
3. Length of the submission
 - Speaker slots at CS3 are typically 25 or 40 mins + 5 min Q&A
 - Workshops are typically 1-3 hours
 - Technical training and tutorials are 0,5 - 2 days

4. Outline / abstract of the content

- describe the submission in 500-800 words
- describe what type of target audience you have for the presentation, and if the presentation has any specific pre-requisites of the audience. Especially important if submission is technical training/tutorial/workshop.
- describe what the audience should expect from the presentation
- describe what the audience will learn, i.e. clearly state the key takeaway

5. Information and bio of speaker/presenter

- Name and contact information: address, phone and e-mail
- Photo of good quality (minimum 300 dpi) for publication at our website/program.
- clearly state what level of expertise you have on the submitted matter
- general description on background, education, affiliations,
- be very clear if your submission is as a private person, as an employee of an organisation, etc. We need to know if you do not want your affiliation known.

6. State if this is the first time the material is used, if it re-uses material or partly duplicate content, also describe if this submission also has been sent to another conference. If so, please describe:
 - name of other con to which the material has been submitted and/or
 - name of con used for presentation
 - date of the (potential) presentation

7. Describe if there are any technical additions/challenges with the submission, e.g. live demo, multiple screens, must-use-own-laptop, need for Internet access, content of movie clips, need of real-time video conference call to (other) presenters, cat herding, etc

Note: We have an excellent tech team, and we use multiple projectors on the main stage, and we use advanced multi-display software¹. If you have ideas for a more advanced presentation, please share those ideas with us !

8. In order to help us understand and evaluate the quality of the presenter we highly appreciate link(s) to any existing video or audio recording of the speaker performing, if available.

9. Indicate if you, as a presenter, allow us to:
 - make the presentation material electronically available to audience/public?

- make an audio&video recording of the presentation electronically available to audience/public?
- can use your name, part of bio, outline, etc, in the conference program/web/app etc.

10. In the speaker package we provide transport, lodging during conference, free access to conference & conference dinner, for one presenter.

We need to know:

- if speaker can/will accept all or some of these (some orgs do not allow this for their employees, some persons prefer to pay travel/lodging themselves, some persons rather change transport for extra tickets, etc).
- from/to which address the transport is going to be
- dates for arrival and departure

Note: that if part of the speaker package is deflected, these extra resources will be donated to further develop the ICS lab and to support security researchers/students participation.

11. Indicate if there is anything else you want us to know (i.e. notes to the organizers) for instance, why your submission should be selected to CS3 Sthlm!

We look forward to receive your suggestions for contribution to CS3STHLM!
